Data Quality

Data integrity is important to you. Data integrity is important to us. All our information is third party verified, meaning our data is only collected from 3rd party sources, never sourced from the business themselves. Rest assured, on the Supplier Profile you'll be getting access to only the highest quality risk information so you can evaluate your suppliers with confidence.

- Business Identification Number (BIN) — Our records come with Experian's proprietary tracking number (the 'BIN') that stays persistent over the life of the business.
- Corporate Linkage — Since business relationships can change, speed and accuracy of updates is key. All business data is rolled up to the headquarters location so you can make an accurate risk assessment on the financially responsible party of the corporate family. With our real time linkage update capabilities, rest assured you're making decisions on the most comprehensive and accurate record possible.

- Financial Stability Risk Score — Predicting supplier risk, or more specifically the supplier's likelihood of going out of business, is a critical factor in your supplier evaluation process. Seeing a twelve month score trend can help you understand if the supplier is stable or if they're deteriorating.
- Diversity Data — Indicators such as Woman Owned, Minority Owned, Hub Zone and other data can help you determine if prospective suppliers meet any of your supplier diversity requirements.
- License, Bond, and Insurance Data — Before a supplier delivers goods or services to your premise, you may want to ensure the supplier holds all the appropriate licenses, bonds, and insurance policies to minimize your liability.
